

ARK AGM News 2010

The Ark outdoor area is transforming like a very slow motion chrysalis to butterfly.

We have added a wonderful deck area at the front, this is especially great in wet weather, a swing frame, that has been the most popular with a wonderful cotton hammock brought back from a South American mission trip by one of our teachers.

Our 45 children have planted native trees from the paper for trees project and are currently watching the digger pull their sandpit apart and we will have a great new area for the children to explore, with rocks and a dry river bed, that can have water when they want.

Our children have enjoyed various activities in the community with visits for the infants to the airport. The preschool area went to Te Puna quarry Park, a local construction site, memorial park to visit the Army trucks, the library and the Art Gallery for the Antarctica exhibition and film.

We have also enjoyed people in the community visit us. The police and their car, Firemen and their engine, a storyteller from the library, a Mum to bath her baby, landscapers, electricians, plumbers, roofers.

Another exciting year for our children, staff and families
