A Retelling of Ancient Forms of Biblical Storytelling Sunday the 27th April at the Jordan Centre. 7pm to 8:15pm

Carl is doing his Doctoral studies at the moment with a focus on the early church teaching model called 'Mystagogical Preaching' (a learning journey into the mysteries of Christ).

It was a story-formed process that prepared new Christians for their baptism and first communion. This night will be an experiment in modernising this approach while exploring the images of bread and water throughout the whole biblical narrative and how they relate to our baptism and practice of communion.

It will be quite a creative and visual night with Carl weaving all kinds of stories together from the bible. It's going to be great! And it's free 😊
